

Manfred Kops, Stefan Ollig (eds)

The Internationalization of the Chinese TV Sector – Economic, Social and Legal Consequences after the WTO Entry

A. Introduction

Manfred Kops and Stefan Ollig ..... 11

B. Stock-Check of the Chinese TV Sectors' Internationalization

The Historical Development of Program Exchange in the TV Sector
Hong Junhao ..... 25

Television Regulation and China's Entry into the WTO
Guo Zhenzhi ..... 41

Ripples in a Tea Cup – Recent Policy Changes in China's TV Sector
Kristian Kender/Anke Redl/Rowan Simons ..... 55

Challenge and Opportunity: The Status Quo of Overseas TV Programs in the Market of Mainland China
Hu Zhengrong/Wang Weijia/Zheng Liang ..... 65

TV Dramas in China – Implications of the Globalization
Bai Ruoyun ..... 75

Strategy for International Communication Access to China:
Sports as the Opportunity
Luo Qing ..... 99

C. Economic and Social Aspects of the Internationalization of the Chinese TV Sector

A Media Management Framework for China Robert G. Picard .....	109
Public Service Broadcasting and China. A Reflection on Some Common Points of Development Giacomo Mazzone .....	123
The German Broadcasting Order – A Model for China? Manfred Kops .....	131
Chinese TV Programs for Foreign Countries? A Consumer Theory Perspective Stefan Ollig .....	151
The Influence of Globalization on the Management of TV Stations Xu Yingzi .....	167
The Transformation of Ideas into TV Programs Chen Chwen-Chwen .....	181
Structure and Reform in China's Television Industries Michael Keane .....	191
The Economic Consequences of the Transfer of Know-How for Faster Development Li Zeng .....	205
From the Local to the Global: China's Television Policy in Transition Chin Yik-Chan .....	221

D. Legal Aspects of the Internationalization of the Chinese TV Sector

Legal Framework for TV and Film in China Tim Faber/Fu Xiaomei .....	241
Supervision of the Chinese Media Sector – Aspects and Consequences Thomas Scharping .....	253
Cooperation with China in the TV Sector Viola Bensinger .....	265
Guanxi in China as Social Capital Thomas Heberer .....	273
Protection of Intellectual Property Rights: Legal Framework and Political Consequences Peter-Tobias Stoll/Inga Kayser .....	295

E. Perspective of Internationalization.*Entry or No Entry: What Consequences Do Practitioners Expect for the Chinese TV-Sector?

It is Time to Adjust the Management Structure of Chinese Television Li Bin .....	303
From Margin to Mainstream Shao Wen-Guang .....	307
Doing Program Business with China – Experiences and Expectations Alexander Coridass .....	313
The Role of Foreign Media and their Programs in China is the Subject, not the Object of the Chinese Broadcasting Policy Heinz-G. Pianka .....	317
Cracking China or How To Get Rich Very, Very Slowly Huang Shuanghong/Anne Hufnagel .....	323
Exporting Western TV Programs to China – The Limits of Maximizing Distribution Profits Peter Hille .....	329
TV Program Exchange between Germany and China: It Will be Fruitful for Both Sides Thomas Luzar/Christian Fritzsche .....	333