A Note on Roga in ZPE 94 (1992) and ZPE 100 (1994)

The editors of ZPE have brought my attention to Professor J. Kramer's article on roga that appeared in 94 (1992) which I had not cited in my article on ῥουζικόν and ῥογά in the post-Conquest papyri that came out in 100 (1994). Although this was an inadvertent oversight, the two articles are quite different in substance and approach. Mine was restricted to the post-Conquest papyri and focused primarily on the meaning of the word ῥουζικόν (and ῥογά) in an Islamic context, and on the narrow interpretations that previous editors of the documents had made on the distinction between the two words.
