

Julia Hoydis teaches Anglophone Literatures and Cultures at the University of Cologne. She studied English, Theatre and Media Studies, and Philosophy in Cologne and received her doctorate in 2010. Her main research interests are literature and science, the English novel, Gender Studies and Post-colonial Studies. Among her publications are the monograph Tackling the Morality of History: Amitav Ghosh and the Ethics of Storytelling (2011) and the edited collection 21st Century Studies, Special Issue of Anglistik (2015); she has also written articles on contemporary Indian fiction and Black female speculative fiction. Currently she works on completing her post-doctoral project, a study of the perception of risk in the English novel from the 18th century to the present.