

Typological notes on nouns and adjectives in Kuwaataay

Jules Jacques Coly

University of Cologne - Germany

The aim of this article is to describe the noun and adjective formation processes in Kuwaataay. Kuwaataay is a West Atlantic language spoken in the Casamance area (south of Senegal: West Africa).

This paper on one hand, discusses simple nouns in relation to correlation of number and on the other hand, compound nouns whose formation requires various processes such as juxtaposition, genitive construction, apocope... Moreover this article discusses adjectives particularly focusing on the animacy hierarchy character.
